NORTHERN BANKERS TO HAVE SUMMER OUTING

Coming to Hotel Wentworth on 22d Day of This Month

The Northern Bankers' Association will hold their summer outing and banquet at the Hotel Wentworth on Wednesday evening, June 22. Ex-Governor John McLane has accepted an invitation to address the association after the banquet on his reminiscences of the peace conference, and prominent bankers will speak on financial and banking subjects. It is expected that over one hundred members from New Hampshire and Vermont will stand.

On Thursday, the 23d, by invitation of the officials of the local banks, the association will be entertained with a trip to the navy yard and points of historical interest in and about Portsmouth. A luncheon will be served at noon to the association by the Portsmouth bankers at the Rockingham house.

The officers of the Northern Bankers Association are:
President, F. W. Sawyer, Milford, N. H.
First Vice President, A. H. Chandler, Bellows Falls, Vt.
Second Vice President, A. M. Heard of Manchester, N. H.
Secretary Treasurer, H. T. Robbins, Newport, Vt.
Executive committee, L. H. Bixby, Montpelier, Vt.; Nelson Bailey, Wells River, Vt.; L. T. Thurber, Nashua, N. H.

There will be a meeting of the executive committee and chairman of committees of the Old Home Week celebration at City hall this evening.

A GREAT EARTHQUAKE IN ITALY

Campania, June 7.—An earthquake at three o'clock this morning devastated the provinces of Calabria, Campania, Apulia and Basilicata. Wires are down and communication interrupted, but thousands are known to be homeless and between thirty and fifty to be dead. The destruction was probably less, but the earthquake in severity nearly equaled the great Messina earthquake of December, 1908.

MAN KILLED AT NORTH END

Raphael Papasolaro Fatally Stabbed By Agostino Trovato

COMMON JACK-KNIFE USED

Trouble Started Over Game of Cards for the Drinks—Slayer Captured in Hay Loft—Had Excellent Reputation With Police—Has Engaged Counsel.

Raphael Papasolaro, better known as Ralph Rossa, was killed on Market street shortly after four o'clock on Monday afternoon, and Agostino Trovato, the self confessed slayer, is locked up at the police station, charged with the crime.

Both are Italians and their favorite weapons a knife, which was used and with fatal effect. It was a common jackknife and Trovato stabbed his victim three times, the first stab a vicious blow in the groin severed the femoral artery and caused death, although there were two wounds in the breast, one directly over the heart, but it is thought this did not penetrate very deep.

Papasolaro died almost instantly and Trovato made a dash for liberty, but he was captured within an hour in a hay loft of a barn on Russell street, within a hundred yards of where the crime took place. The body of Papasolaro was picked up from the middle of the street and laid on the sidewalk, while the ambulance was called, but before it arrived he was dead, and the body was removed to Undertaker O. W. Ham's morgue.

The crime was witnessed by several people and Joseph Sacco, in front of whose place the murder was committed, telephoned the police that there was some trouble. Marshall Entwistle sent Officers Shannon and Anderson down and on their arrival they found Papasolaro still alive and telephoned back for the ambulance. In the meanwhile Assistant Marshal Hurley arrived and later Marshal Entwistle sent Deputy Sheriff Shaw, who happened into the station, down to assist.

Trovato Captured.

The officers quickly learned that Trovato had committed the crime and they began a thorough search of the neighborhood, being hampered, as is usually the case, by the unwillingness of the people in that section to impart any information. They learned from a little girl named Pollino Uzark that Trovato had run into his boarding house on Russell street. They made a search of that house, but failed to locate him and having the territory surrounded, began a systematic search of the buildings. They had been through several when Deputy Sheriff Shaw went into the barn, owned by Joseph Sacco and climbed into the loft. He was looking over the hay when he heard a movement in the corner and upon investigation found Trovato crouched down in the corner, and when the officer pulled his club and ordered him to put up his hands he did so, saying "All right, Mr. Shaw, I won't cause any trouble." He was handcuffed in the loft and as they came out of the barn, Asst. Marshal Hurley and Officer Shannon were just coming out of the next building, and they took him in charge and handcuffed to Shaw and Hurley he was taken to the station with Officer Shannon keeping the excited Italians back.

As the officers appeared with the prisoner the brother of the murdered man, Joseph Rossa, became very excited and for a time it looked as though he would attempt to do harm to the prisoner, but the officers warned him off and took the prisoner to the police station, where he was searched and immediately locked in a cell.

Common Jackknife Weapon.

A common, wooden-handle jackknife was found among other effects, and to Marshal Entwistle and Asst. Hurley he admitted that it was the knife he had stabbed Papasolaro with. An examination revealed blood stains on the big blade.

Claimed Self-Defense.

Trovato informed the officers that he had stabbed Rossa, as he called him, but it was in self-defense. He claimed that Rossa, or Papasolaro, grabbed him by the throat and threatened to kill him, at the same time reaching back for a revolver. As he pulled his knife and struck it him and they wrestled, and when Rossa dropped he fled, and after visiting his boarding house, hid in the barn where he remained until found by Deputy Shaw. Nobody was allowed to see the prisoner and shortly after he was booked he asked that Attorney John W. Kelley be sent for. After a short talk with Mr. Kelley he engaged him to defend him and at the advice of his counsel refused to talk any more.

Two important witnesses, Calogero Maligno and Gerardo Paolino, the latter, who witnessed the crime and tried to separate the two men, were placed under arrest by Officer Anderson.

EXPLOSION IN MACHINE SHOP

Gasolene Tank Blew Up in the Shop of Charles R. Pearson

That the workmen employed in the machine and shop of Charles R. Pearson on Haven court were not instantly killed this morning is due to the fact that the doors of the shop were open.

Two of the force, Charles Brewster and Charles Taylor, were just beginning work and had started to make some repairs on a big gasoline tank of a motor boat. The tank had been emptied of gasoline, but still contained gas enough to nearly wreck the building. Taylor, with a light, got near the tank where a cap had been removed and in an instant there was an explosion that was heard half a mile away. The big copper receptacle opened at the top and pieces flew in all directions. Parts of it went through the upper floor and lodged in the beams and woodwork in the roof.

The concussion was so strong that it took out nearly every window in the shop complete.

Taylor who was the nearest to the tank was cut slightly on the face, and the proprietor, Pearson, and the other workman, Brewster, were thrown off their feet, but not injured to any extent.

NEWFOUNDLAND FISHERIES DISPUTE BEING HEARD

SEVEN ATTORNEYS WHO REPRESENT THE UNITED STATES.

The Hague, June 7.—The first business session of the arbitration tribunal which is to decide the Newfoundland fisheries question between the United States and Great Britain was held in a chamber of the historic Binnenhof Monday. The president of the court is Prof. Heinrich Lammasch of Austria. The proceedings opened with the presentation of the British case by Sir, Robert B. Finlay, Senator Elihu Root heads the delegation of attorneys representing the United States.

The international dispute grows out of opposing interpretations of the Newfoundland fisheries treaty of 1818. The question in dispute is the right of the Americans to take fish in Newfoundland waters and the condition under which the right may be exercised.

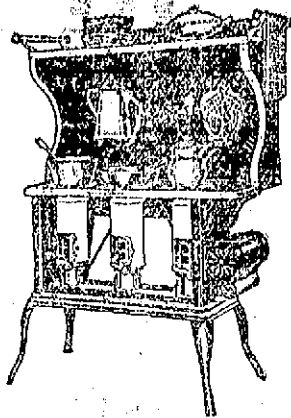

The fisheries controversy is the first case to be referred to the permanent court at The Hague for arbitration under the general arbitration treaty between the United States and Great Britain. The court consists of the following members of the permanent court at The Hague: Dr. Heinrich Lammasch of Austria, umpire, who will act as president of the tribunal; Louis M. Drago of the Argentine Republic of the Netherlands, George Gray of Delaware, judge of the United States circuit court, and Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, chief justice of the supreme court of the Dominion of Canada.

The Main Point at Issue.

In their agreement to submit the question to arbitration, Great Britain and the United States summed up the case to be settled by The Hague tribunal in seven questions. These seven, upon which the case rests for both sides, are as follows:

1. Whether either Great Britain or Newfoundland has the right to regulate the North Atlantic fisheries without the consent of the United States.
2. Whether Americans have the right to employ foreign fishermen on their vessels when on the treaty coasts.
3. Whether American vessels must pay light, harbor and other duties when fishing on the treaty coast.
4. Whether American vessels seeking shelter, or making repairs on non-treaty coasts under permissions of treaty, may be required to pay light, harbor and other dues.
5. Concerning the headland theory whether three marine miles within which Americans cannot fish on non-treaty coasts are to be measured from shore or from a line drawn across the mouths of bays.
6. Whether Americans have a right to fish in bays of the coast of Newfoundland and in the Magdalen Islands.
7. Whether American fishing ves-

Temporary Agreement.

Since 1838 the fisheries have been conducted under various temporary international agreements. These have not proved satisfactory to either party, and at times have given rise to serious irritation on both sides.

Through all the years of dispute over the fisheries, two words in the treaty of 1818 have been the chief bone of contention. They are "in common." The treaty specified that on the parts of the coast named the citizens of the United States were to have the privileges, "in common with the subjects of his Britannic majesty."

The Newfoundland government's construction of these words made Americans fishing on their coast amenable to local laws and regulations. The American contention was that only such regulations as were reasonable and were accepted by the United States and Great Britain by common accord, should govern.

THERE ISN'T ANY ONE FOR ME TO PLAY WITH ANY MORE

(The last words of Mark Twain.)
The glow is fading from the western sky,
And one by one my comrades, as of yore,
Have given up their play and said, good bye;
There isn't any one for me to play with any more.
Don't cry dear heart! for I am worn and old;
No longer have I largess in my stor;
E'en love's best gifts to me I could not hold;
There isn't any one for me to play with any more.
I miss the tender hand-clasp of old friends,—
The kisses of the loved ones gone before;
Tis lonely, when the heart first comprehends,
There isn't any one for me to play with any more.
I need these loving hearts so fond and true,
I want them in my arms, as heretofore;
When they are reacher,—I shall no longer feel.
There isn't any one for me to play with any more.

JEWELRY MAN MISSING

Salesman Who Is Well Known in This Territory

Boston papers today report that Frederick J. Foster, 30 years old, a salesman representing a jewelry manufacturing company of Detroit in the eastern territory, disappeared on May 12 from the Parker house, where he had been a guest for three days.

It was stated unofficially yesterday that the matter was brought to the attention of the police by the hotel management at the request of the mother of the missing salesman, Mrs. A. E. Foster of Summerville, N. J. She has not heard from her son for more than a month and fears that he has met with foul play.

May 12 Foster left the Parker house. No alarm was felt when he did not return in the evening, but when a week elapsed it was decided to inspect his room.

A clerk found Foster's sample cases containing jewelry valued, it is said, at at least $10,000 in the room. The property was shipped to Detroit. According to later information the inventory revealed that there was no shortage and that the accounts of the missing man were correct.

Yesterday the police were told that Foster is 5 feet, 10 inches in height, weighs 165 pounds, is of dark complexion and has a dark mustache. The police lean to the theory of foul play. Foster, it is said, may have been waylaid by somebody who believed that he carried large sums of money and precious stones with him.

The missing man has been in this city many times.

son, and taken to the police station where they were held without bail for the hearing today.

A Game of Cards.

The trouble leading up to the murder took place over a game of cards. It being a rainy day practically all of the laboring Italians were loafing and during the afternoon a crowd of them, including Trovato and Papasolaro were playing cards for the drinks in the house of Colgero Maligno on Russell street and as the losers were stuck for the beer they adjourned to a saloon and drank it. There were some words between the two as they came out of the house and went to the saloon of Joseph Sacco on the corner of Market and Russell streets. Some of the crowd, including Papasolaro's brother, went into the saloon and they stopped on the corner. According to witnesses, Trovato appeared to be afraid of Papasolaro and the latter kept pushing his hand with his first and second finger extended at Trovato's face, at the same time making remarks about what he would do. Suddenly Trovato reached in his pocket and pulled out his knife and opening it made a vicious lunge at his victim. The blow was low and it inflicted a deep wound in the groin. Papasolaro clinched with his assailant and received two more wounds in his breast. At this, he released his hold and sank back in the mud and Trovato upon seeing his victim drop to the ground, turned and ran up Russell street.

According to eye witnesses of the crime, Gerardo Paulino, an aged Italian, who was with the two men, sprang between them as they clinched and attempted to separate them, and when placed under arrest his clothes were all covered with blood.

Papasolaro was unconscious when picked up from the street and he was just alive when the officers arrived, but died several minutes before the ambulance or a physician could arrive. The killing caused the greatest excitement in that section and for a time it was hard to get any head or tail of the entire matter. Everybody wanted to talk and all had a different story to tell, so that it was some time before anything definite could be learned.

As soon as the dead man was taken to the undertaking rooms of O. W. Ham, Medical Referee W. D. Walker was called and he made an examination, which will be followed by an autopsy today. Three wounds were found on the body, one clean cut stab 3-4 inch long above the right nipple. Another stab wound through the left nipple, directly over the heart, and another stab wound 1-4 inch long in the left groin, over the femoral artery. Medical Referee Walker was of the opinion that it was the wound in the groin that caused death, as it was evident that Papasolaro had bled very freely. A preliminary examination of the wounds in the chest and he was of the opinion that neither had penetrated to any great depth, although the one over the heart cannot be traced until an autopsy is performed.

The clothing of Papasolaro was searched at the morgue and a jack-knife similar to the one the crime was committed with was found, along with a pipe and some tobacco. No revolver was found, and this does away with Trovato's statement that he reached around to pull a revolver.

The dead man was 23 years of age and had been in this country about ten years and has lived in this city for several years. He was employed on the railroad in the construction crew, and has the reputation of being quarrelsome.

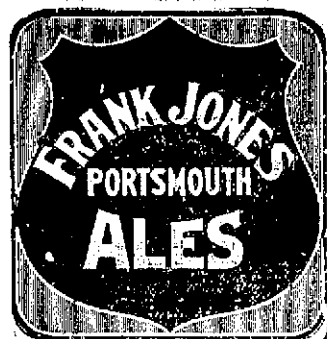

Agostino Trovato is about 26 years of age and he has been here for several years and has always borne an excellent reputation with the police, and has never been in trouble. He was employed at one time at the Rockingham Light and Power plant as a laborer and was well liked. Of late he has been working on a construction crew on the railroad. Both he and his victim are unmarried.

Brown Tall Moths Not Much in a June Time Frost

The cold and backward spring has had at least provided one compensation in that it has been the means of checking somewhat the brown-tail moth nuisance. An examination of the nests in this vicinity shows that caterpillars have died by the million in many cases the entire colony has been exterminated by the frigid weather. The unseasonable weather has had the same effect on the tent caterpillar which was getting very numerous.

TAKEN FROM ELIJAH'S YACHT

Mrs. Whittaker Succeeds In Escaping at Last

CHILDREN GO WITH HER

Five Persons Said to Have Been Held as Prisoners by "Holy Ghost and Us" Colonists—Forcibly Taken on Cruise to Jerusalem and Overtaken and Returned to Yacht When Attempts to Escape Were Made

Portland, Me., June 7.—"Elijah" Sanford's yacht Kingdom was boarded by a deputy sheriff, who rescued from it Mrs. Florence Whittaker, her 16-year-old daughter, Edna, and three other children, who, it is claimed, had been held prisoners.

For nearly two years the woman has been appealing to relatives to assist her to escape from the control of the "prophet," Frank W. Sanford, showering his friends and relatives with letters pitifully recounting her story of suffering.

She also asked aid to rescue her oldest daughter and her other children from the influence of the colonists.

Several attempts have been made by her relatives to effect her removal without strife. Her letters have been intercepted; passage money sent her has been withheld, and until Rev. Nathan H. Harriman of Cambridge, Mass., secured a writ of habeas corpus from Justice Savage of Auburn, Me., and had her forcibly removed from the yacht, she despaired of ever escaping.

High Sheriff Trefethen located the barkentine Kingdom at Great Chebeague Island, Casco bay, and went after it in a motor boat.

An attempt was made to conceal the woman and her children as soon as the sheriff made known his object in boarding the yacht, but Mrs. Whittaker, on the lookout for any chance for escape, refused to be stowed away in a cabin below decks. When the leaders on board attempted to restrain her by force, the sheriff intervened and assisted her over the side to the motor boat, threatening to shoot if resistance to their departure was offered.

The Kingdom arrived in this country May 8. Since that time the woman has been making every effort to escape. She was kept a strict prisoner, she claims, and forced to undergo continual persecution from Sanford and the other leaders of the society who were aboard the yacht in which she was quartered.

She claims that she was forcibly taken on the long cruise to Jerusalem, and that several times when she escaped from the yacht and was trying to get into communication with friends in this country, she was handicapped by lack of funds, overtaken and brought back aboard the prophet's yacht.

The leaders of the association emphatically deny that it is customary to detain anyone unwillingly. "We do not keep prisoners at Shiloh," said Rev. Charles B. Holland, head of the Durham colony where A. A. Whittaker, her husband, is located. "I do not know what they have done aboard the yacht, and I do not know how much her husband has done to prevent her from leaving the yacht."

Mrs. Whittaker, herself, overjoyed at her escape from the yacht, declared last night as she was on her way to Auburn to appear before Judge Savage to insure her liberty in the future, that her only grief to temper her exultation was the thought that her husband was still under the control of the society.

COLLEAGUES MUST SETTLE

Treasurer of Democratic State Committee Wins Suit For Debt
Boston, June 7.—Thomas E. Dwyer, treasurer of the executive committee of the 1904 Democratic state committee, prevailed in his suit against nine associate members of the committee, to compel them to contribute their share of a $550 judgment, which was obtained against Dwyer for rent of Boston Theatre, which had been used for the state convention of that year. Dwyer had to pay the judgment himself, as there was not sufficient money in the treasury.

The defense offered was that Dwyer had paid the bills of the 1903 committee out of contributions received in 1904, and that if he had not done this he would have had money enough to pay the rent of the theatre.

"Mother" Straight of Civil War
Fame Passes to Her Reward

Indianapolis, June 7.—Mrs. Lovina Straight, known to thousands of Civil war veterans as "Mother" Straight, died in her home in this city in her 84th year. She was born in New York and came to Indiana with her husband in the early forties.

During the Civil war she was a nurse at the front and was attached to the Fifty-first Indiana regiment, of which her husband was colonel. Carrying messages from General Buell to General Buell, in Tennessee, she was captured by the enemy. She escaped by forcing a teamster at the muzzle of a revolver to take her in his wagon out of the lines.

General Straight, who died several years ago, was one of the Union soldiers who escaped from Libby prison through a tunnel.

ESCAPE FROM TRANSPORT

Eighty Artillerymen Make an Unsuccessful Dash For Liberty

Washington, June 7.—A sensational dash for shore liberty, in which, it is said, eighty men of Battery C, Second field artillery, outward bound from San Francisco to Manila on the transport Logan, participated, is being investigated by Captain Griffin, commanding the battery. Thirteen of the men, two having been taken from the city prison, have been placed in the transport's brig.

According to an official report almost half the battery, just at dusk, slipped from the ship without orders, carrying arms and wearing cartridge belts, scaled a high fence around the dock and scattered along the harbor front. Some who were unable to elude the dock guard dropped overboard and swam ashore. After several hours' search the last of the truants were rounded up.

FINE OF $5000 IMPOSED

Mrs. Chesbrough Convicted of an Attempt to Smuggle

Trenton, June 7.—Convicted of attempting to smuggle personal property—Parisian gowns and lingerie—into the United States by means of a trunk with a false bottom, Mrs. Martha M. Chesbrough, wife of a wealthy Boston shipowner, was fined $5000 in the United States court here.

Counsel for Mrs. Chesbrough announced that an appeal would be taken to the United States circuit court of appeals.

At her trial Mrs. Chesbrough claimed that the false bottom found in her trunk was used by her while traveling as an ironing board. Her explanation, however, was not satisfactory to the court.

Charles Taft to Build Big Hotel

New York, June 7.—Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, brother of the president, is reported to be interested in the syndicate which will erect a mammoth new hotel in the theatre district here. The hotel will be thirty-two stories high and is to cost $10,000,000.

RATE INCREASE IS WITHDRAWN

Taft Wins In His Argument
With Railroad Magnates

THE INJUNCTION POWER

Claim That It Was Abuse, Inasmuch as Corporations Were Not Given a Chance to Present Their Side of the Case—Entitled to Greater Income Because They Are Paying $120,000,000 More in Wages

Washington, June 7.—Peace settled over the railroad situation last evening, but it was peace dictated by President Taft.

Twenty-four railroads centering in Chicago unconditionally surrendered on the question of raising the rates before they had been examined and approved by the interstate commerce commission.

The president then made a truce with them by consenting to withdrawal of the suit against the western trunk line committee, as he had accomplished his purpose.

Railroad presidents who conferred with President Taft have very definite opinions as to the merits of the situation which has arisen through the action of the department of justice in seeking to enjoin twenty-five western roads from making increases in freight rates.

The specific purpose of their visit to Washington was to assure President Taft that, in their own opinion, they are not law-breakers. They outlined to him the procedure whereby the roads acted in concert in filing new schedules and tried to convince him, as a lawyer, that although the schedules were filed simultaneously, no agreement to maintain the rates existed and that such information as was exchanged among the roads prior to the establishment of the new rate did not constitute a violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

It can be said upon the highest authority that the railroad counsel are unanimous in the opinion that the injunction will be vacated by the highest court. The railroad attorneys advised their clients before the rates were made that in their opinion the action proposed was not contrary to the law. They hold now that it was not and they believe that can show to the president that it was not.

The four railroad presidents in town are E. P. Ripley of the Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe; F. A. Delano of the Wabash; S. M. Felton of the Chicago and Great Western and Marvin Huggitt of the Chicago and Northwestern.

These leaders present the claim that the railroads cannot meet the demands of their employees, pay other increasing expenses and have anything left for dividends to stockholders, unless rates are raised, whether it be in combination or individually. In other words, the railroad men declare it is a life and death struggle and that the prices of all things except railroad rates have been increased.

The chief claim of the railroad men is that they are entitled to greater income from freight rates because they are paying $120,000,000 more a year in wages than before the panic of 1907.

Upon their prosperity, they say, rests the development of the sparsely filled far west, whose fertility is a strong factor in the preservation of prosperity. Besides the status of the workers directly employed by the railroads, which magnates claim to be involved in the dispute, there are affected the 15,000,000 employees of the members of the railway business association and the manufacturers of railroad supplies. Without higher rates the railroad men claim they will be unable to purchase supplies.

It can be said that the roads feel exceedingly bitter toward Attorney General Wickersham, not so much because the suits were brought as over the secretive method of the department of justice in instituting them. The companies were given no opportunity whatever to present evidence to the court to show why the injunctions should not be granted.

Death of Noted Doctor

Providence, June 7.—This state has lost one of its most skillful and best known physicians and surgeons with the death of Dr. John P. Henriques, who died from a complication of diseases at his home in Edgewood. He was born in New London, Conn., 53 years ago.

Old Jailbird In Custody
Boston, June 7.—Edward Whalen, who was arrested on Franklin street, charged with the larceny of a diamond stickpin, was recognized last night at headquarters as a person who had spent half his life in jail. Whalen is 50 years old and is wanted for several counts.

$5000 SHORTAGE CHARGED

New Hampshire Postmaster Is in Custody of Deputy Sheriff

North Conway, N. H., June 7.—Charged with a shortage of $5000 in his official accounts, Postmaster Arthur Charles of North Conway will be arraigned before the United States commissioner at Portsmouth.

Charles, who is now in the custody of Deputy Sheriff Seavey, is said to have followed the stock market quotations closely for a year or so.

He is 23 years old and unmarried and has been the local postmaster for five years. He is a Mason of high degree and has been prominent in church work. Postoffice Inspector Stone is at work upon the case.

NOLAN WILL MANAGE CHAMPION JOHNSON

He Has Been In the Pugilistic
Game For Twenty Years

San Francisco, June 7.—Following the discharge of George Little as his manager, "Jack" Johnson announced that "Billy" Nolan would handle his affairs hereafter. Nolan confirmed this statement.

Nolan has been connected with pugilism for twenty years. He is best known through his handling of "Battling" Nelson. It was while under Nolan's management that Nelson won the lightweight championship of the world.

Since retiring from the fighting business three years ago, Nolan has lived on his ranch in California.

TWO FIREMEN KILLED

Ten Caught by Back Drought In Big Fire In New York

New York, June 7.—Two firemen were killed and twenty-two were overcome by stifling fumes in fighting a stubborn warehouse fire. Ten of the firemen overcome were caught in a back draught on the fourth floor of the building.

Fireman Cotter died on the sidewalk after having been carried from an upper floor, where he had lain unconscious for more than an hour in a pool of water.

Fireman Healy was taken out of the building dead. Three of the injured firemen are still in a serious condition.

The fire was in the five-story building occupied by the Free Storage bonded warehouse. The loss is estimated at $75,000.

JONES GETS THE HOOK

Bounced by Ballinger While Resignation Is In the Mails

Portland, Ore., June 7.—While his resignation from the place of special agent for the general land office was in the mails on the way to Washington Horace L. Jones was "indefinitely suspended" from service at the order of Secretary Ballinger.

Jones was a witness against Ballinger, in support of the charges made by Louis R. Glavis in connection with the Cunningham claims in Alaska. In the investigation of which he assisted, Jones entered the government service in 1903, after having been admitted to the bar in 1901.

The New Prince of Wales

London, June 7.—The Daily Express understands that the Duke of Cornwall is to be created Prince of Wales, possibly on June 23, the sixteenth anniversary of his birth.

Chinese Exposition Opens

Shanghai, June 7.—China's first international exhibition has opened at Nankin without a hitch. There was much enthusiasm. The first ticket sold for 10,000, or $5610.

REPUBLICANS IN BAD TANGLE

War to the Knife Exists
Within the Party Ranks

HOT STRUGGLE NEXT FALL

Factional Splits In Eleven States Cause Many to Abandon Hope of Success at Polls—Regulars and Insurgents at Odds in Wisconsin, Indiana, Iowa, New York and Other States Heretofore "Solid"

Washington, June 7.—Beginning with the fight in the senate over the admission of New Mexico and Arizona to statehood, it is expected that the smoldering antagonism between the factions of the Republican party will burst into flames and that war to the knife in the ranks of the organization throughout the country will be under way, not to be quelled until the November elections are over. What the result will be then, no political prophet ventures to say.

A great many Republicans have about abandoned hope of success at the approaching congressional elections. Even if Mr. Roosevelt, on his return to America, gets behind the administration, they say, there must be a settlement of differences, and these cannot be settled until the quarrel between the insurgents and regulars is ended. As illustrating the situation this hurried glance over conditions is given:

In Wisconsin Senator La Follette has the greatest fight of his career on his hands. Handicapped by the fact that he deliberately sought a quarrel with the president, he will be opposed by a conclave of "stalwart" Republicans at Milwaukee, where plans will be made to prevent his return to the senate. Vice President Sherman will represent the congressional committee at this convention and encourage the regulars.

In Indiana the outlook is that the regulars will oppose the return of Senator Beveridge, in spite of the fact that he controls the entire organization of his state.

Iowa faces a most bitter contest between the regulars and insurgents. It has even come to be an issue whether the administration of President Taft or the course of Senators Dolliver and Cummings shall be endorsed.

The regular Republican members from Ohio are reading out of the party the Republican newspapers that have advised their defeat, and the "Back from Blum" club (Ohio branch), headed by James R. Garfield, is waiting to defeat any candidate for governor that the regulars may name.

In Illinois and New York recent revelations have brought the leaders of the organization to the verge of demoralization and the outlook is regarded as hopeless.

An insurgent candidate for governor will run in New Hampshire if the present plans are to be carried out.

Vermont leaders are meeting behind doors to decide whether they shall endorse the state administration when the state convention meets on June 30. In Massachusetts, even at this early date, there is a question whether Senator Lodge can be re-elected.

The party in Rhode Island, since the announcement of Senator Aldrich's retirement, is like a ship without a pilot in a storm.

In New Jersey there is a bitter fight and the organization is said to be split wide open.

HEALTH MUCH IMPROVED

Gardner a Candidate For a Fourth Term in Congress

Washington, June 7.—Representative Augustus P. Gardner of the Sixth Massachusetts district will be a candidate for election for a fourth term. Gardner has reached this definite decision since his return to Washington from Massachusetts, where he went a few weeks ago to recuperate from the strain attending the contest against the house rules.

At that time it appeared as if the Essex congressman might be unable to resume his duties this session and possibly would retire from congress. His condition has steadily improved, however, and since returning to Washington he has been able to attend to business as usual, although exercising great care not to overdo.

AT POINT OF BRIAR PIPE

Three Burglars Marched to Jail by a Keen-Witted Clerk

New York, June 7.—Three burglars with pockets bulging with loot were held up at the point of a briarwood pipe in Brooklyn, in the back room of a saloon, by a clerk of the hardware merchant whom they had robbed, and marched tamely to jail.

They were an angry set of men when they realized that their captor's courage had been keener than their own wits.

Three of Family Murdered

Marshalltown, Ia., June 7.—James Harkey, wife and son, living sixteen miles southwest of this city, were found in their home murdered. Ray Harkey, an 18-year-old son, has been arrested.

TO MEET AT BEVERLY

Taft and Roosevelt Will Be In Conference on June 23

Beverly, Mass., June 7.—President Taft and ex-President Roosevelt will both arrive here on June 23 and as the natural order of things hold a conference. There is no record of a president and ex-president meeting in conference in the history of our country.

It will be the first occasion for a conference between the two men who loom higher in national affairs than any other two men in the country since the day when Colonel Roosevelt left Washington to make the final preparations for his African tour more than a year ago.

Many things have happened in the meantime, events which have caused the adherents of both to proclaim widely divergent views.

Consequently the first occasion for the former president to talk with the man whom he insisted must succeed him in office is bound to be an event upon which will be focussed the eyes of the whole country.

STOPS AT THE ALTAR

Wedding Ceremony Interrupted by Wife of Would-Be Bigamist

Fall River, Mass., June 7.—As Alozy Wroblewski stood with 18-year-old Francesca Kot at the altar in the Polish Catholic church, and as he was about to make his solemn vow to cherish and protect the girl, a frantic, dishevelled woman rushed down the aisle and forbade Father Stanislaus to pronounce the words, which, it is alleged, would have made Wroblewski a bigamist.

She declared that she was the lawful wife of Wroblewski, that she had married him many years ago in Austria and that he had deserted her to come to this country.

Her proofs were produced and examined by the priest. The young bride fell in a faint before the altar and the groom rushed from the church.

The police will bring a charge of perjury against Wroblewski, who swore when taking out the marriage license that he had never been married before.

TRAINED OFFICERS FOR JAPANESE NAVY

Admiral Douglas of British Navy
on Visit to America

New York, June 7.—Admiral Sir Archie Douglas of the British navy, retired, on his way to Toronto, where he is to receive an honorary degree from McGill university, arrived here on the Baltic, and erect, with bullet furrowed forehead, was characteristically reticent. After much arguing, however, the admiral talked briefly: "If you must know something about me," he said, "do you remember the way the Japanese destroyed the Russian navy in the Sea of Japan?"

Being assured of the recollection, Sir Archie made his one statement: "Most of the officers of the Japanese fleet were my pupils," he said. "For his services in training Japanese naval officers and promoting a high state of naval efficiency the Japanese government bestowed on the veteran British officer the highest of its honors—the Order of the Rising Sun. He retired from active service in 1907."

STABBED TO DEATH

Quarrel Over Cards Leads to Murder In a Portsmouth Street

Portsmouth, N. H., June 7.—A quarrel over cards led to a murder in the North End district. Raffaele Papasero and Agostino Trovato had been drinking and playing at the home of Calogero Maligno, and when the dispute became warm both men were ordered into the street, where the argument continued.

Papasero, aged 23, was seen to push his finger in the face of Trovato, who, as quick as a flash, drew a knife, cutting the former three times over the heart and in the left groin. He fell dead on the sidewalk while the murderer disappeared.

Trovato was found half an hour later by Officer Shaw, who located him buried in the hay in a barn close by the scene of the murder.

MILK WAR NEAR END

One Big Firm Agrees to Pay Winter Rates For Ten Months

Boston, June 7.—The milk war came nearer to an end when H. P. Hood & Sons agreed to pay winter prices for ten months, which was agreed to by the farmers.

H. P. Hood & Sons sent out a statement last night that they would agree to the terms of the producers, namely, the winter price for ten months, including the time between July 1, 1910, and May 1, 1911.

The producers look for the other contractors to agree in a very short time.

RIGHT LIVING.

No man has any right to expect to live differently tomorrow from the way in which he is living today. What he chooses for today he chooses for tomorrow. What he overcomes today he is overcoming for tomorrow. Yet most of us live as though we did not believe this, and we try hard to persuade ourselves that we are safe in so living.

MAINE STATE ROADS

The Maine papers are telling that in Wells, Kennebunk, Biddeford, Old Orchard and Scarborough, work is in progress under the direction of State Highway Commissioner Paul D. Sargent on sections of the long distance state road planned from Portland to Portsmouth. That is to be the first section of what it is intended to develop into a comprehensive system of through state roads covering the entire state of Maine.

Portsmouth is vitally interested in this road, for it means not only an increase in summer travel in this section, but, what is more important, a steady gain in the highway travel of Maine residents to this city all the year.

Maine is following New Hampshire's good example in this matter, and New Hampshire must keep on setting the pace.

Let this work in our sister state be an added incentive to New Hampshire.

BIRDEYE VIEWS

Doubtless if Halley's comet had a conscience it would be ashamed of itself for the trouble and expense it has caused Uncle Sam. When the famous sky scouter began its approach toward the earth, Commander Knapp, chief hydrographer of the navy department, sent notices all over the world inviting navigators and master mariners to make careful notes of their observations of the position and peculiarities of the comet and report the results to him. That invitation was a tactical error of the costliest sort. For ever since the comet began its spectacular antics cable messages describing the performance have been coming into the hydrographic office from the four quarters of the earth. Not only are the statements contained in these messages vague, contradictory and of little or no scientific value, but every dispatch is sent "collect," the result being that the meager contingent fund of the office is well nigh exhausted—but the reports are still coming in and there is no way to head them off.

The public library of every town, according to Josiah H. Benton, of Massachusetts, whose experience in library management gives him a right to speak, should contain a town scrap book in which every article, paragraph and item that appears in any newspaper in regard to that municipality should be carefully gathered. In that way a surprisingly good local history will gradually grow up. When the time comes for an actual written history, this material will be of great direct and suggestive value. No would have the librarian keep a scrap book and see that every such allusion to the town finds its way into it. This is a suggestion of very large merit. Those who adopt it will have occasion to congratulate themselves in the future upon their foresight, and they will make many inquiries and investigations of coming years their debtors. The scrap book should supplement the files of local newspapers of which every town library ought to possess bound copies.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

Our Primary Election Law

It is evident the people of Peterboro are desirous of having their townsman, Robert P. Bass, a candidate for the governorship and in the "Open Letter" he says he has consented to be a candidate.

Wouldn't it be well, especially under this new and equitable law, to let the announcements be made by the secretary of state? Then the public will know that the candidate has complied with the law and deposited his $100.00, and made his desire and ambition for office legally known, rather than the press to suggest, because the law prohibits or forbids other than the moneyed class, this privilege. The poor are not eligible. The press might see virtue, merit and qualification among some of the yeomanry and that might be a vital error—Wolfeboro News.

Railroad Bill is Harmless

It may be doubted if the new railroad bill passed by the senate will accomplish anything very radical in the way of reform. The principal reason, we confess, for suggesting this doubt is not a specially logical one, except as it is based upon the history of past legislation. The bill received in the senate the vote of all the regular Republicans, of all the insurgents and of all the Democrats except 12. Now any measure which is supposed to affect political conditions, that can be agreed upon by men so variously minded as were represented among those who voted for the bill as it was finally passed, must be practically innocuous. The leading provision of the bill as it now exists is the one which creates a court of commerce for the consideration exclusively of appeals from orders of the Interstate Commerce Commission. The court is to be rather curiously constituted, the president in the first instance is to make the appointment of five judges to serve respectively for one, two, three, four and five years. It is provided in the bill that when these terms expire and the judges of the court of commerce retire from that bench, they will take up the work of a circuit bench, and vacancies, including those occasioned by the expiration of the term of the first appointees, are to be filled by appointment, by the chief justice of the supreme court. This is the principal innovation which the new bill makes, several other features being adopted which are of much lesser consequence than the establishment of the court of commerce.—Portland Express.

THEY NEVER FAIL

That is What They Say About Them in Portsmouth, and It is Therefore, Reliable

Another proof, more evidence, Portsmouth testimony to swell the long list of local people who endorse the old Quaker remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this convincing endorsement of that remarkable preparation:

George S. Chandler, 64 Pleasant street, Portsmouth, N. H., says: "I do a great deal of walking in my work and in this way my kidneys became weakened, causing me intense suffering. About three years ago I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. They cured me of kidney complaint and I have had little trouble of the kind since. Sometimes when I overwork or do any heavy lifting, I notice a slight lameness in my back, but on such occasions, a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills bring me the desired relief. I have recommended this excellent remedy to many of my friends and in each case where it has been tried, benefit has followed. Doan's Kidney Pills can be procured at Philbrick's Drug Store and should be given a thorough trial by every kidney sufferer."

A Remarkable Example of Sculptor's Art In Westminster Abbey

The Nightingale tomb in Westminster abbey is said to be one of the most remarkable examples of the sculptor's art in the world. More people inspect this curious piece of work than any other feature in the great abbey. Death is pictured in marble in the form of a skeleton with a mantle thrown around the figure. A mother and daughter are shown seated on a throne, while Death is pointing a spear at the daughter.

"The Navajo's Bride"—It is a fast day in a Navajo village. The tom-tom beaters are pounding their instruments and calling the people out for the big event of the day—the annual foot race for the championship of the tribe. The members of the tribe gather about the finishing line, among them a young girl, Chiquita, the belle of the tribe, much sought after by all the eligible young men. Now the contestants appear, among them a sinewy young chap, Pablo by name, who we shall see more of anon. The chief explains the conditions of the race, how the runners are to go to a point several hundred yards away and race to the mark at their feet. The runners depart for the starting place.

Now we see them at the start. The racers toe the mark, get ready, and at a shot from the earline in the hands of the starter they dart away. Now we see the excited crowd cheering the racers. Now we see them coming half way down the course with Pablo in second place but rapidly overtaking the leader. Now we are at the finish line again. There is great excitement as the runners draw near. EVENTS OF ELIOT

High School Alumni Form an Association

No Action Taken on the Pole and Wire Question

Eliot, Me., June 7.

The Eliot High school graduating class on Monday evening entertained the alumni and undergraduates at the Congregational vestry. A supper was served at 6.45 followed by toasts from each class with Principal Chas. F. Leadbetter presiding as toastmaster. Remarks were made by Superintendent Aaron B. Cole. A feature of the occasion was the presentation by the graduating class of a pair of handsome table spoons to Mrs. Chas. E. Foye in grateful recognition of assistance in the class drama, and in other ways. An alumni association, to hold yearly reunions, was organized with Harvey A. Knight-president, Helen Orster vice president, Robert F. Staples treasurer, Eunice Stantal secretary, Raymond F. Knight, Edna Raitt and Annie Lord executive committee.

The town centennial music committee will meet this evening at the library.

Next Sunday will be children's Sabbath at the East Eliot Methodist church.

Mrs. Eliza J. Wells, whose death in Boston was reported in the Herald, was a native of this town, and a brother, Elijah Varney, resides here.

Mrs. George Pittman has returned to her home in Virginia, after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Spinner.

There was no action taken by the selectmen Monday afternoon on the petition of the Berwick and Salmon Falls Electric company for pole and wire privileges in town. There was some opposition on the ground of uncertainty of whether the townspeople would find themselves tied up against their will, and the matter was laid on the table until July 5.

Miss Florence Marshall of Portsmouth will assist in the program to be given by the junior class of the Eliot High school on Wednesday evening, June 8. Miss Marshall studied with Mrs. Georgia Hill of Portsmouth also with Mrs. Philip Hale of Boston. For two years she has been the accompanist for the Kittery Choral society. Mr. Daniel Landers, who will also assist, is a member of the Portsmouth City band. He will render a cornet solo.

Electric Sign advertising is no longer an experiment. The most successful firms of world-wide reputation as well as the stores with whom we have done business give us facts that prove the advertising worth of Electric Signs to be far in excess of any method of advertising that has ever been devised for the amount expended.

Look for the most enterprising city of today and you will find one that uses Electric Signs on all available locations and where merchants appreciate the advertising value and use light. I am making and selling the best signs that can be produced, not the cheapest, but signs that will stand up and give service for years. Recent inventions have reduced the cost and also the cost of maintaining. Public spirit and civic pride demand well lighted business sections in our cities, why not do your part with a well lighted, artistic Electric Sign and increase your business as well.

I charge nothing for estimates or sketches and am always willing to explain details and serve your interests. Respectfully yours,

On account of the storm Monday
the signal for no school was sounded and the local schools were closed for all day.

The York Rebekah lodge will meet in Odd Fellows hall on Thursday evening.

On next Friday evening the Yacht club will hold its ladies' night, when whist will be enjoyed.

Miss Dorothy Dalzell spent the week-end in her home at Waltham.

Mr. Ralph Splinney was a visitor in town on Sunday.

At least three weddings are booked
for this month here.

Mrs. Edward Whitehouse was a visitor in Hampton Sunday.

Mrs. Victor Amee of the Point visited her father at Ferry Lane on Sunday.

Miss Helen Dunbar is spending a few days in Worcester en route home.

A few local people will participate in the "Old Time Sing" to be held in the Unitarian church, Sunday, July 3
in honor of Old Home Week.

The cribbage tournament will meet tonight at the Yacht club.

The many friends of Mrs. Octavius
Libbey of New York, will be grieved to learn that she does not intend to spend the summer months here in her beautiful summer home, as has been her custom for many years.

It is quite noticeable as one rides through Kittery, the great number of estates that are for sale, two at the Intervene, two at Locke's cove and a number at the Point.

Local Sons of Veterans are interested in the plans for the Maine state encampment which will open at Boothbay Harbor on Wednesday evening,
June 8.

Mrs. Octavia A. Remick, an old resident of Kittery, died on Monday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock. She was the widow of Jacob Remick, an old-time shipwright, and has lived the greater part of her long life here in Kittery.

She leaves four children and two sons, Christopher Remick of Kittery,
G. G. L. Remick of Exeter, Lucy J.
Paul, wife of Herman Paul and Addie
S. Paul, wife of Sumner Paul, both of Kittery.

The Ladies' Aid will meet with Mrs.
Edward Mayo on Pleasant street on Thursday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.
The annual election of officers will take place. A large attendance is desired.

A private yacht owned by people from Bath anchored in this harbor met with quite an accident this morning, when a boat bumped into her, badly smashing one of her sides. The condition was considered very serious at one time and the owner's safety was at stake, but help came on time and although the boat was much the worse for it, the occupants escaped with very little hurt.

Mr. Morton Seaward, while visiting in Fall River, was taken very ill and telegraphed home for aid. His condition is considered as quite serious.

Rev. John Jones of India, a former resident of here, will spend the month of July at the old Popperrell house.

Mr. and Mrs. David A. Wasson today arrived at Sunapee lake, where they will spend the summer with Mr.
Wasson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo.
S. Wasson.

Hon. Moses A. Safford was a visitor in town yesterday.

Mr. Harold Chambers returned home today after visiting friends in town.

On account of Mrs. Charles William's absence from town, the Chapel

Sunday school class will meet this evening with Mrs. Henry Blake. Instead of at Mrs. Williams' as before stated.

Mrs. J. Brooks of Tenny's Hill has critically ill at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cotey have been entertaining relatives from Sanford.

The informal dance to be held in Frisbee's hall under the auspices of the fire department on Friday evening is bound to be a success and a large attendance is hoped for.

The rehearsal for children's Sunday at the chapel will be held tonight at the church.

The serious condition of Ralph Baker's hand, which he cut very badly,
is improving.

Mrs. Morton Seaward was a visitor in Portsmouth on Sunday.

Mrs. Andrew Preston spent Sunday at her summer cottage near the Champernowne.

The condition of Mrs. John Thaxter who is ill at the Worcester hospital, is much better and very encouraging.

M. M. Seaward is temporarily in Newport, R. I.

START THE YOUNG FOLKS IN LIFE

The idea of inducing young people to get a start in life is not new and is one that has spread all over the civilized world. There is an organization in England which has as one of the requirements of membership, have at least something in the savings bank. It is needless to add that this offer will be appreciated.

Every boy and girl has a desire some day to have money of their own and from a small saving every month they are assembling something for the future. Portsmouth has many thrifty boys and girls who have already made their start, but there are hundreds who haven't made a beginning.
This fact suggested the method outlined in the following offer:

There has been deposited with Portsmouth
Savings Bank a sum of money with the object of promoting saving and thrift among young people; the conditions made by the donors being that until the deposit is exhausted books shall be issued by the bank containing a special deposit of one dollar to those under fifteen years of age, residing in Portsmouth and vicinity, who shall on the issuing of the book by the bank, deposit an equal amount, or more, that they have saved.

The bank will receive on these special accounts, after the first deposit, sums of twenty-five cents and upwards
under fifteen in the following wards.

If any depositors should withdraw the full amount of their savings which they have deposited within three years, they forfeit the special deposit of one dollar. After three years the special deposit becomes the property of the depositor.

The accumulation of small savings means money for special needs, a college course, a start in business, the making of a home.

As an illustration of what a small sum will do the following facts are printed:

A deposit of $20 made in 1823 now
amounts to $1,653.56.

A deposit of $5 made in 1824 now
amounts to $379.89.

An account opened in 1823, on which no transactions were made after 1843, at which time a balance of $175 was on deposit, accumulated by additions of dividends alone to $8,700.01, which amount was paid on closing the account in 1901.

STRANGE PARASITE
KILLS CATERPILLARS

Manchester, June 7.—A discovery of remarkable slaughter of browntail moths has been made. The report is that in Amoskeag woods a moth caterpillar nest was found complete and devastated. Nearby lay the dead bodies of the caterpillars, nearly 200 in number, the estimated population of a nest.

Some parasite has got in his good work says the moth experts. It is not known that parasites are loose in Amoskeag woods but it is to be presumed that some may have wandered there from another place.

Parasites are imported from Europe and from Japan, there being several species in common use. A European brand was let loose several months ago in the north end, but no startling news has come out concerning its operations.

This is the season when browntail moth caterpillars venture abroad. Numerous reports have come in of nests breaking up on a warm day and the overgrown family of civilization curiously starting out on a life voyage of evil work. This is, however, the first important case that has come to light here where the journey was wrecked so effectually at the start by a parasite.

The state and federal governments have each made some effort to parasite sections of the state as protection against the browntails. Col. Thomas H. Dearborn is in charge of the work the state is undertaking.

In the case of the annihilated nest in Amoskeag woods, the caterpillars were found strewn about on the ground beneath the nest, eaten out of their shells, nipped in the bud as it were, by a foe, whoever he may be to whom the thanks of all good citizens are due.

ANNUAL MEETING OF IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

COMPROMISE IN MILK STRIKE

Boston, June 7.—The milk strike is believed to be practically settled. The firm of H. P. Hood and Sons have agreed to meet the demand of the farmers and pay winter rates for milk during ten months of the year, beginning July 1, and it is expected a similar step will be taken today by the other contracting firms who have not come to terms with the producers.

The Whitings and William A. Graustein have not reached an agreement with the producers, but today's conference between members of these two firms and representatives of the producers' association is expected to result in the adjustment of all difficulties.

The signing of the agreement by the Hood firm means that shipments will be resumed at once.

The farmers are well satisfied with the terms of the partial agreement, which they assert is a complete victory for them. The Hood firm has agreed to meet almost every demand made by the producers before the strike, and the producers declared to day that the other contractors will be obliged to do likewise. The Hood firm acted independent of the other contractors in settling their differences with the producers.

RECENTLY ORGANIZED

Agamenticus Electric Light Company
Has York Local Promoters

York, Me., June 7.—The Agamenticus Electric Light company was recently organized in Portland with a capital of $100,000. The promoters are J. G. Shaw of Biddeford; G. F. West, F. D. Marshall, E. C. Hersey and George West, of Portland. The object of the company is to take over properties of the old Agamenticus company, which was recently purchased by the York Light and Heat company.

The promoters plan to increase the service of the old company, the plant at York to be run until midnight of each day, after which the juice will be supplied from the York Light and Heat company's plant on Water street in Biddeford. This plan will be followed for four months in the year, which include the summer season, at which time the York Beach section will require the greatest amount of power.

TORPEDO BOAT DIVISION

Will Cruise This Season in Chesapeake and Narragansett Bays

Washington, Me., June 7.—Aside from the submarine division which has been conducting maneuvers in Chesapeake bay, the navy department has ordered the formation of a special torpedo boat division for a cruise in the Chesapeake and up the Severn to the naval academy. This division will be formed from boats now in reserve at the Charleston navy yard to be known as the first torpedo division. The division will proceed to Charleston the latter part of June on a practice cruise to Chesapeake and Narragansett bays. Upon the completion of this duty the division will return to Charleston and rejoin the reserve torpedo divisions.

CHANDLER ON WATERED STOCKS

Boston, June 7.—The Journal today publishes the following special dispatch:

Concord, N. H., June 6.—"The combined and conspiring railroads of the country," said former Senator William E. Chandler, in an interview given out here tonight, "with their three thousand billions of dollars of recently added fictitious capitalization, for which they demand interest and dividends from the American people, are declaring that if they are not allowed their way they will punish their opponents. They are threatening the president, the attorney general, the conference committees, the congress, the judges, the railroad employees, the widows and the orphans and all other stock and bond holders, the shippers of merchandise and the people as a whole. It remains to be seen who will be frightened and lie down in cowardice, and who will trickily endeavor to serve the railroads and cheat the people."

"Not the president, with Col. Roosevelt coming home to help him. Not the attorney general, with his courage and honor at stake. Not the conference committees, with knowing eyes watching them with suspicion. Not the congress, with the November election coming. Not the judges in their robes emblematic of fearless uprightness. Not the railroad employees, who are no longer afraid of their masters. Not the widows and the orphans and the stock and bond holders. They have been overworked by the money power and are not now worrying about panics purposely created. Not the shippers, who at last know their rights and, knowing dare maintain. Not the people, who know that railroads worth $40,000 a mile are not entitled to interest and dividends on $715,000 a mile."

"New Hampshire has measurably freed herself from the domination of her politics, her legislators, her executive officers and her judges by the railroad power at Boston. It remains for her to show that she will not pass into the ownership of the railroad power at New York."

CARTER—MESSENGER

Edgar C. Carter, seaman, of Portsmouth, and Miss Lillian M. Messenger of Paterson, N. J., were married in this city, on Monday evening by Rev. George W. Farmer.

Buffalo Bill for nearly thirty years has been marching around the world showing what the west was when it was the "frontier." With his retirement we shall have only the story writers and historians to fall back upon, and they cannot begin to equal the vividness of Colonel Cody's shows.

This function of proclaiming a king is a survival from the ages when it was well that the new monarch should be publicly set upon his throne in a hurry, for there was likely to be competition.

The English do not have pageants when a cabinet resigns or a new parliament meets and a new set of rulers takes hold. There is no more theatrical about the real government of England than about our own.

The railroad bill looks as though it had been in a rear end collision, but there are those who claim that the trouble was a misplaced switch.

Too much should not be expected of England's new queen, with such immediate predecessors as Alexandra and Victoria.

It shows a lack of the commercial spirit in doctors to advocate a safe and sane route.

THE PORHYDROMETER.

An Ingenious Apparatus For Weighing Ship Cargoes.

An ingenious apparatus has been perfected by an Italian engineer, Signor Emilio de Lorenzi, the function of which is to indicate automatically the weight of a ship's cargo. This device, which is called the "porhydrometer," is of simple construction and operation and works with remarkable accuracy, the results being within one-tenth of one per cent. Moreover, it is easy of installation, so that vessels already in service can be equipped therewith as readily as those in course of construction.

The operation of the instrument is based upon the principle that a body floating in a liquid, no matter what its density may be, displaces a quantity of that liquid exactly equal to its own weight. The apparatus comprises merely a float, or "aerometer," placed in a chamber filled with water, which is in communication with the outside of the ship. Consequently as the vessel sinks deeper into the water while being loaded, or vice versa, when the freight is being discharged, the level of the water in the float chamber must rise or fall in coincidence with the level of the surrounding liquid outside. The float itself being fixed, it becomes more or less deeply immersed in the water in the chamber with a consequent alteration of its apparent weight.

The aerometer is connected and balanced by levers, so that by the adjustment of the balancing weights the volume of water displaced by the aerometer at any particular draft is accurately gauged, the attention to apparent weight being read on the weighing machine or recording instrument.

and therefrom the weight of any cargo taken on board or discharged is easily determined.

Numerous tests with the apparatus have been carried out in England, and the accuracy of the weight readings, irrespective of the size of the vessel, has been remarkably conclusive. It can be applied to any type of craft with equal facility and reliability—in a small lighter as easily as to a transatlantic liner. At the present moment arrangements are being made for its installation upon a 10,000 ton vessel in this case the diameter of the float will be about nine inches. For a small lighter it averages about three and one-quarter inches diameter at the top by about two and seven-eighths inches at the lower extremity. So sensitive is the apparatus that it will indicate the weight of a person stepping on board.

Thus it will be seen that the captain of a vessel always possesses a means of determining exactly the weight he has on board. For those vessels engaged in long journeys, necessitating bunkering at intermediate ports, it is of far-reaching importance, since it enables the captain to ascertain precisely how much fuel he has shipped. This is a valuable point, inasmuch as many foreign ports short weighing is by no means an uncommon practice, and vessels are often misled for a considerable sum per annum in payment for misrepresented quantities of coal.

Rome's Ancient Harbor.

For the last year systematic excavations have been made at Ostia, the ancient harbor of Rome, at the mouth of the Tiber, says the Scientific American. The ruins of a large city, built probably by Hadrian over the old republican town, have been uncovered. Archaeologists consider the discoveries as important as those of Pompeii. Heretofore it has been believed that Ostia was founded by Aeneas Martius, the fourth king of Rome; that it was destroyed by Marius during the civil wars, rebuilt during the republic, sunk into insignificance and was buried in the sand and deposited in the Tiber when Trajan built the new port and city of Portus. Instead of this, it is now certain that Ostia not only continued to flourish under Hadrian, but that the old level was raised six feet and that the republican town served as the foundation for a model city with rectangular wide streets, temples, fora and squares.

Wintergreen Oil From Birch.

Oil of wintergreen was formerly distilled from the leaves of the wintergreen or checkerberry plant, but almost all of the natural oil on the market now is said to be obtained from sweet birch, a tree growing at its best in the southern Appalachian mountains. The bark alone is used for the distillation of the oil, and it is essential that it be green, for if it is allowed to dry out before distilling it becomes worthless for the production of oil. Steam is used in the process of distillation, the oil being extracted from the bark by the steam rising through the still. The oil and condensed water are collected in glass jars.

TREASON TO YOUR TOWN.

Why Spending Your Money Elsewhere Might Be So Described.

In a recent address before the Western New York Newspaper Publishers' Association E. F. Bussey, publisher of the Phelps (N. Y.) Citizen, said:

"The problem is really a serious one and has not received the attention it should have had. This is a large measure accounts for the expansion of the business to immense proportions. One concern in Chicago claims to have a business of $30,000,000 per year, with an estimated profit of 14 per cent, amounting to over $7,000,000."

"One village with a population of 6,000 is cited as an example of what the mail order business means locally. It is claimed that during the month of December last over $5,000 was sent in money orders from that village to one Chicago mail order house. A letter of inquiry brings forth the reply that there is no foundation for such a statement, although what is considered a large amount of business is actually sent to the mail order houses. The estimate given places it at about $10,000 annually."

"A somewhat recent development of mail order business is the trade in ladies' wearing apparel. A number of ladies patronize houses dealing in these goods without realizing that in permitting themselves to be enamored by the exponent of the new fad, the psychology of advertising, they are laying themselves open to criticism quite as much as the man who is deluded into sending away his hard earned dollars for goods which show up beautifully in the catalogue, but have a decidedly different appearance when he receives them."

"The regular mail order houses at the present time have alluring advertisements in the magazines in which they offer apparently wonderful bargains in ladies' suits. The psychological feature of the advertisements seems to be the guarantee, which is given great prominence. Of course the reader is not expected to draw the deduction that in case the goods are not right the firm has a correspondent to deal with the case who is quite as expert in his line as the high salaried man who writes the ads. In the matter of ladies' suits it should not be a difficult matter to present a strong argument in favor of making a personal selection from a large stock in a store known to be reliable in preference to sending to a distant city and buying, as it were, a cat in a bag. The local houses unquestionably have the advantage of the best arguments, and these if properly presented are bound to prove effective."

TREES THAT ADORN STREETS

Care Should Be Given These Valuable Assets to Town Improvement.

All planting and care of trees that adorn and greatly help to beautify and improve the streets should be done by the town or by permanent organizations authorized to carry on the work. The poorer the soil the larger should be the hole for the tree. If convenient, add rich soil. Spread the roots carefully. Fill in with pulverized soil and press into contact with the roots. Protect the tree with a line of wire netting supported on three or four posts. It adds to the expense, but pays in the long run.

When a tree shows signs of decay in places get busy at once and secure the services of a competent tree doctor, have the wound dug out, scraped and a neat cement filling put in, thus prolonging the life of the tree.

But in the protection of the young trees don't forget to stick up civic pride. Provide for the small boy and enlist him if you can. It pays better than to permit arrest or threaten with arrest. Don't permit telegraph linemen to mutilate trees or climb them with spikes. Secure the passage of ordinances forbidding wires and cables underground wherever practicable. Telegraph and telephone poles are unsightly and interfere with all schemes of street improvement and tree planting.

Women Paint Their Church. Women are today playing a prominent part in the improvement and beautifying of towns. In Burlington, N. J., a number of women members of the congregation of a prominent church of that place undertook the job of painting their edifice last autumn.

Church improvement should fall through by a lack of funds. Headed by the pastor's wife, they bravely set to work with paint pots and brushes, and then formed a pin money fund to employ a man to decorate the top of the building.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

GETTING what's coming doesn't look like justice when you are the recipient and the score is on the wrong side.

We choose our friends, but sometimes it is a hard matter to overcome the bad results of the choice.

Sometimes it is hard to agree with a man's political views and still keep your self respect.

Being wise may be dignified, but it isn't popular.

It is easier to get busy than it is to be prepared for the consequences.

Some persons waste a lot of time working because they don't know what else to do.

It is easy enough to begin at the foot of the ladder when once the ladder has been located.

Having many friends is something of a drawback when your purse is light and anniversary celebrations numerous.

Plenty of brawn and muscle make almost any proposition look easy.

The man who really knows his business attends to it.

Choice of Directions.
Back to the farm!
Go to it.
Old sport.
You will be welcomed
When you report.
Luck on your venture.
Joy in the toll.
Health as you breathe
There with the soil.
That is your ticket.
Vote it and get
Freedom from worry.
Freedom from debt.
Peace and contentment.
Plenty of air.
Food that is wholesome.
Meats that are superior.
Fool with the children.
Play with the cat.
Tackle the garden.
That it may laugh.
Have your excitement
Quiet, refined.
That will drive worry
Out of your mind.
Leave your perplexing
Maps and designs.
Profitless figures.
Profitless lines.
What? Will I join you?
Well, hardly that.
I will go the way
You may go that.
I've been against it,
I understand.
All of the pleasures
Going with land.
Maybe a visit
Later I'll pay.
But it will hardly
Be for a stay.
While it is charming,
Ample and free,
Back to the city!
That will do me.

Beggar's Description.
"Ever hear grand opera?"
"No. What is it like?"
"Say, if I could describe it do you think I would be wasting my time trying to enlighten you? I would be cutting her off at about a thousand a night."

Sufficient Reason.
"Do you enjoy fishing?"
"No."
"Don't you?"
"Not a bit."
"I do."
"Well, you see, I am not a good liar."

With Brickbats.
"It is a shame."
"What's a shame?"
"The way those hoodlums are acting."
"What are they doing?"
"Rocking the cradle of liberty."

Quite Right.
"Circumstances alter cases."
"Maybe."
"Maybe! Well, I should say they do!"
"But not nearly so much as the attorney for the defense does."

Provident Nature.
"Why are the young foolish?"
"Foolish?"
"Yes."
"Why, think how embarrassing it would be to the mature if the poor things were anything else."

Startled Him.
"I notice Old Sokum has straightened up some."
"Yes; he has made a great discovery."

"What is that?"
"That water isn't poison."

No Consideration.
"Jones has got to go to work."
"What's the matter now?"
"His wife refuses to support him any longer."

Warped, but Direct.
"Tell me the straight of it," said the bank president.
"The straight of it," said the trembling clerk, "is that I have been crooked."

MAINE FARED WELL ON RIVER AND HARBOR BILL

Washington, June 7.—Maine has been well remembered in the river and harbor appropriation bill. Saco and Portland's initial appropriation of $3,700 which was recommended by the engineers who surveyed it and passed upon the feasibility of the project. Other places in York county get good appropriations and many places along the entire coast are in for improvement.

Maine gets 10 separate appropriations amounting to $339,500 and authorization for 12 surveys by army engineers on the rivers and harbors appropriation bill, which the conferees have just agreed upon and which will soon become a law. This is an exceptionally good share, due to the activities of the Maine representatives and senators and, especially to Representative D. S. Alexander of New York, a native of Richmond, Me., who is chairman of the house committee. He put all the Maine items he could find upon the bill and when it got to the senate, Senators Hale and Fry found a few more projects and had them put on in the way of amendments. Representative Alexander, as one of the leading conferees, secured without protest and so it is that Maine has come off excellently.

The surveys authorized to be made with a view to obtaining appropriations for improvement affect the following localities. Boothbay harbor, Portland harbor, Ogunquit harbor, Camden harbor, Northeast harbor, Corea harbor, Bass harbor and Deer Island throughfare, Chandeliers river, South Bristol harbor, Madomak river and New Meadows river.

The appropriation of $339,500 for work on 10 projects along the Maine coast will afford opportunities for as many contracts which will put a number of dredges and quite an army of laborers to work in the course of a few months. The senate put two new projects for Maine upon the bill, one of $32,000 for completing the improvement of the harbor at Rockport, and another for the improvement of the St. Croix river at a cost of $75,000. The St. Croix project will not be undertaken till there has been an effort to enlist the Dominion of Canada in an appropriation from $10,000 to $20,000 for co-operative work. These negotiations must be conducted through the government of Great Britain.

The appropriation for the other Maine projects are Camden, $20,000; East Boothbay harbor, $6,500; Matineus harbor, $13,000; Stockton harbor, $38,000; Pepperelle cove, $60,000; Mount Desert breakwater, $25,000; Saco river, $30,000; Isles of Shoals harbor, $40,000.

All this money is made immediately available and it will not be necessary for army engineers to wait till July 1, the beginning of the fiscal year before letting the contracts. However, it is not likely that any of the contracts can be awarded till well into July or August as there must be preparation of specifications for the work and advertisements for bids. Hence it is that probably some of the Maine work can not be undertaken this summer and possibly not this autumn. In which case the actual operations may not begin till something like a year from now.

EX-PRESIDENT AND WIFE THE GUESTS OF KING AND QUEEN

London, June 7.—Ex-President Theodore Roosevelt and Mrs. Roosevelt were entertained at luncheon on Monday by King George and Queen Mary at Marlborough house.

ROOSEVELT UPON STUMP

San Antonio, Tex., June 7.—Cell

Lyons, chairman of the state republican executive committee, last night, in an authorized interview, confirmed the report that Mr. Roosevelt would visit Texas this fall and make several addresses in the interest of the republican candidates for the state officers.

TO GET COOK'S RECORDS AT GREENLAND

New Haven, Conn., June 7.—Harry Whitney, the hunter of this city, and Paul J. Rainey of Cleveland, O., left New Haven Monday for Sydney, C. B., where they will join the Arctic ship Beothic, which they have chartered for a hunting trip in the north latitudes.

The two men spent the night at Mr. Whitney's home here, coming from New York last evening. Before leaving, Mr. Whitney said there had been no change in the plans as previously announced and reiterated that the trip was absolutely for hunting purposes. The men expected to be in the Arctic regions about three months.

They will take no one with them aside from the crew of the Beothic, which will be commanded by Capt.

Bartlett, who was with Peary on his north pole expedition.

Mr. Whitney said last night that he intends to bring the boat back this fall, but that there will be supplies enough aboard to keep the vessel through all next winter. He has no desire to spend another winter in the Arctic after the privations he suffered in the winter of 1908-1909.

To the Eskimos who befriended him there he is taking back needles and threads and many other supplies. Incidentally the ship will go and get the records and instruments of Dr. Cook, entrusted to Whitney and left in a cache in Greenland when Commander Peary is said to have refused to allow them brought aboard the Roosevelt. But hunting is the prime motive of the trip.

Mr. Matthews was 93 years old last January and in excellent health until a day or two before his death. He was a man of wonderful physical powers and strong mental faculties. He held important offices in town, such as tax collector, postmaster, director of the national bank and councillor in many matters. He was the last of his family, as his wife and daughter died 30 years ago and his two sons died two years ago. He was a member of the First Congregational church and for many years a member of St. Mark's lodge of Free Masons.

The funeral was held under Masonic honors as pallbearers.

SCHWAB STEEL RUMOR

Says Steel Plant Will Be Transferred to Coast Site.

Washington, June 7.—It is reported here that Charles M. Schwab is preparing to move his steel plant from South Bethlehem, Pa., to some point on the Atlantic coast. Mr. Schwab is preparing to develop his iron ore mines in Cuba, and desires to have his plant on deep water, that he may escape the expense of rail carriage of the ore.

Agents of Schwab have been inspecting several locations. An unsuccessful attempt was made to secure control of the plant of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company, at Norfolk, Va.

CURFEW LAW FOR BOSTON

Committee to Urge Mayor Fitzgerald to Favor Its Enactment.

Boston, June 7.—That a curfew law be established in central Boston to keep all children, under 14 off the streets after 9 p. m., unless accompanied by a parent or guardian, was suggested by Philip Davis of the civic service house, at the annual meeting of the Home and School association at the Twentieth Century club.

A committee of Mrs. Fannie Fern Andrews, Mr. Davis, and Alvin Dodge was appointed to call upon Mayor Fitzgerald and ascertain what could be done toward such a city ordinance.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

STILL the flowers bloom in the spring without permission or hindrance from the frost, as they try their blooming only in the back woods.

There are people who stay up in the air a long time who have no connection with airships, parachutes or balloons.

We often judge a man by the things he doesn't get and the people he does not know.

Man wants a whole lot more below, and some of them want the lots in blocks of a hundred.

If wouldn't be so bad if knockers were discriminating, for discriminating knockers are rare.

The dollar mark is illuminating, and there is this noticeable thing about it: It is as often the mark of the yellow dog as of anything else.

When a woman hits her thumb with a hammer she then understands why swear words were invented.

A rapid man makes a big noise, but no one cares for his ultimate destination.

Drawing dividends is strenuous enough for a lazy man.

Good habits may become so fixed and unchangeable that they finally become irritating to people other than their owners.

No Chance.
He loved his wife, or claimed he did. And yet the silence was unbroken. In just an even dozen years. No word by him to her was spoken. The neighbors shook their heads and said: "There surely must be trouble brewing. It seems a pity to see her like this. Was, oh, so ardent in his wooing!"

The days ran on and into weeks. And into months as time went flying. But not a word from him there came. To break his silence long, and trying. Sometimes it almost seemed that words were just about to find expression. But every time, on second thought, "The unborn sentence met suppression."

Though strange the statement may appear, His wife, the picture of contentment, Did not appear to notice it. Or hold his silence in resentment. It didn't seem to worry her. For he was a man, and formal—in fact, as far as she could see it was a plump man.

"Why is it?" she asked him one day. Who, after all, was asking, Inquired as to the reason why. He had cut off his family speaking. "I haven't," he replied, with a smirk. "I try my best to hold with her, but for some years I have not found a place where I could get a word in."

Wants Quick Action.
"Truth crushed to earth will rise again."

"Is that so?"

"Yes."

"That sounds good."

"It is good. The eternal years of God are hers."

"Practical? Nothing doing for me, then, unless she gets a derrick and does the job more quickly."

Quite Proper.
"John?"

"Yes, dear."

"I saw you coming out of a saloon yesterday."

"And how glad you were, weren't you?"

"Glad?"

"Certainly. You wouldn't have me stay in a saloon, would you?"

Needed the Credit.
"I hear you have inherited a fortune."

"Nothing in it, old man."

"But now, did such a rumor get around? Everybody is talking about it. Who started it?"

"I did. I wanted to get my trunk out of the boarding house."

Generous Man.
"Is he good to his wife?"

"He is, indeed."

"Deals gently with her failings, I suppose?"

"Yes, and lets her keep 25 cents out of every dollar she earns."

Certainly.
"What should a young man do the first year out of college?"

"What should he do?"

"Yes."

"Try to get some useful ideas in his head, of course."

Had Enough.
"I heard you were working this morning."

"I was."

"What is going to happen?"

"Well, that isn't going to happen again."

His Delight.
"Mercy, Johnnie, what language?"

"Mine."

"Yes, yours."

"Ain't it do peach? Say, I've been outside a week on that."

AT NAVY YARD HELD FOR MURDER

A Marine Made Trouble for the Guard

Broke into the Ferry Waiting Room Monday Night

Other Items of Interest from the Reservation

Trying Out Machinery
A trial of the machinery of the U. S. S. Ajax was held at the dock today.

The Wisconsin's Situation
This paper's recent item about the Wisconsin going out of commission has attracted a great deal of attention. The item did not give the date of the prospective change of the vessel's status.

Back From Cuba
Four of the Portsmouth men who have been on survey duty at Manzanillo, Cuba, in connection with the U. S. S. Hist have arrived home. They are James McCarthy, Samuel Pilgrim, Louis Fingleton and John Flanagan. Woodbury Gates, another of the party, is coming along later.

Passing a Furlough Here
William Morrissey, a well known Portsmouth boy, for many years in the service of the navy has been passing a few days with relatives here. He is attached to one of the vessels now at Boston yard.

Changes in Accounting Expected

The experts in accounting employed by the secretary of the navy for an investigation of the bureau of supplies and accounts are hard at work in that branch of the navy department. It is expected that the report will be in the hands of Mr. Meyer in the course of the next week or two. So far very little appears to have been ascertained in the way of material defects in system. It is expected, however, that Mr. Meyer will order certain changes to be made as a result of the report from the civilian experts who are having the co-operation of Rear Admiral William Swift, U. S. navy, retired. It is understood that a recommendation will be again made to the secretary to establish an office of accounts as a branch of the secretary's office, with an officer of the navy pay corps at its head. It is believed that this cannot be done without legislation to authorize it.

Coffin Will Clear Tomorrow

The U. S. S. Hannibal will be unloaded tomorrow and unless repairs are ordered to be carried out here, she will sail on Thursday.

Would Not Go Back to Yard

A marine from the naval prison made trouble for a guard this noon which resulted in the action of the police. The guard brought the marine to this city who is restricted at the post to have some work done on his teeth. After the service of the dentist the marine refused to go back with the guard and was going to stay on this side of the river. The guard reported the case to the police and ordered him placed under arrest until another guard came over from the yard and assisted in returning the restricted member of the corps.

Takes Landing Quarters for Lodging Purposes

Somebody wanted a free room on Monday night and to get the same smashed the window in the waiting room at the Daniel street ferry landing, removed the catch and went in for the night. When Watchman O'Leary arrived this morning he found the break, also he could see at a glance that he had visitors during the night, enjoyed a smoke talk and who must have been satisfied with the accommodations when it comes to hunting up a lodging when the hotels are full. He reported the case to the navy yard, but up to date it is not known who conducted the party.

What's This

The collier Leonidas which is assigned to this yard as home port is said to be quietly being repaired at Charleston, S. C. navy yard.

Fine picture show at Music Hall today, matinee and evening.

Stabbing Affray Goes to Superior Court

Trovatore Pleads Not Guilty Witnesses Give Bonds

Agostino Trovatore, who stabbed and killed Raphael Papasoluro on Market street on Monday afternoon, was before Judge Simes in police court today, charged with murder. He was represented by John W. Kelley, and waived the reading of the writ, and offered a plea of not guilty.

Trovatore was held for the October term of superior court, and sent to the county jail to await the action of the grand jury. Two witnesses who were present when the trouble started, were held under bonds of $300 for their appearance in the case later.

Wilfred Therrian, of Portland, drunk, was allowed to go and his case placed on file.

George Lucas of York pleaded not guilty to a charge of drunkenness. His case was continued until Wednesday, as was the case of Timothy Barrett, charged with assault.

PERSONALS.

Richard Foss has been on a trip to Manchester.

Concord Monitor: Hon. Nathaniel E. Martin, Hon. Henry F. Hollis and Robert C. Murchie, Esq., went to Portsmouth this afternoon, for the trial of the action Whitney v. Martin before Judge Lowell in the United States circuit court, opening Tuesday morning.

ARRESTED AT DEPOT

Fussy Jag Passed the Night at the City Hotel

Wilfred Therrian, a passenger on the evening Pullman, on Monday evening, was in a fussy mood owing to the stuff that he put in his storage tank before leaving Boston for Portland. Conductor Sanborn of the train introduced him to Patrolman Jack Murphy when the train arrived, and Jack took him down to have a look at our famous city hotel, to enjoy the remainder of the night on the soft side of a pine board. Today Judge Simes looked him over and heard his tale of woe. He wanted to use the rest of the ticket, and as he was in better condition after resting his brain and limbs in Portsmouth, the court said "Depart."

MATCHED FOR MONDAY NIGHT

Portsmouth and Dover Lads to Box at the Park

The sports that are known in boxing circles are delighted to know that Kid Lee of this city, the champion colored waterweight, and Kid Flaherty, of Dover, have been matched for a bout at Quamphagan park on Monday evening next. Prof. McHenry, an expert handler of boxers, will train Lee and its safe to state that Mac will have the ex-navy man in fine trim for the bout, and any man who attempts to follow him will certainly be in fast company.

NOTICE

The union picnic of the King's Daughters and Missionary Society of the Middle street church will be postponed on account of the weather until June 15, if pleasant.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT

The sessions of the United States district court were resumed this forenoon with Judge Francis C. Lowell of Boston presiding.

A new panel of petit jurors appeared an datter considerable effort a jury was selected to try the case of Wilbur F. Whitney of South Ashburnham, Mass., vs. Nathaniel E. Martin of Manchester. This is a suit growing out of the lumber operations of Clough and company in this state, in which firm the plaintiff and defendant were both partners. The taking of evidence began before the noon recess.

Chickering PIANOS

It would be like carrying coals to New Castle for us to make any comments or to extol the virtues of the oldest piano in America in the face of the appended eulogium. Mr. Busoni has created the musical sensation of the year by his wonderful playing wholly on the CHICKERING.

Messrs. Chickering & Sons.
Gentlemen:

March 18th, 1910.

Not because it would be a comprehensible impulse of politeness,—nor even because we are associated in one common artistic interest,—but merely through sincere sympathy and pure conviction, I feel bound to express to you my high appreciation and my deep gratitude as far as are concerned your great achievements and your most kind services with the Chickering Pianos. To realize an enjoyable piano-playing, these are the conditions to perform beautifully beautiful music on a beautiful instrument. The first I try to obtain, the second is provided by great masters, charming masters, respectful masters, the third, undoubtedly you have produced into my hands.

There are pianomakers' art studios, and there are pianomakers' manufactories. Remain, as you are, the artists in pianomaking, it is the way to add your own chapter to the history of music.

I am, Gentlemen,

Yours most faithfully,
Ferruccio Busoni

CARTER'S QUALITY KNIT UNDERWEAR

Here is something absolutely new in a man's Union Suit. No other manufacturer, to our knowledge, has made any-thing approaching it. Strenuous men who are hard on underwear, will especially appreciate it.

The garment is reinforced at the shoulder by a "cross-stretch"—a piece of fabric set in in the opposite way. This prevents both ripping and sagging.

It also has semi-loop cuffs with French stocking-seams which always lay flat and smooth. Cuffs also have silk like tips. These are exclusive features of Carter's Union Suits.

This is only one of a dozen numbers in the unequalled Carter line, but it will serve to emphasize the character of our goods and the quality and workmanship.

Quality-Knit and Quality-Fit

Ask to see these special numbers in Men's Union Suits; 571, 592, 590. We carry heavier-weight fabrics too.

Made in union suits and two-piece suits for women and children. Union suits for men. Also infants' shirts and bands, silk, wool and cotton.
